Notification of Access to the IRS Data Retrieval Tool

Your personal information was used to access your federal income tax return information through the U.S. Department of Education's online Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®) website or the Income-Driven Repayment Plan request on studentaid.gov.

What does this mean

- If you or someone else (e.g., student applicant, spouse, or third party acting on your behalf) DID access this system or request a transfer of information, no action is needed. We sent your encrypted tax return information to the U.S. Department of Education.
- If you or someone else (e.g., student applicant, spouse, or third party acting on your behalf) DID NOT access this system or request a transfer of information, call us at 800-908-4490, ext. 549.

Note: We're unable to determine who accessed the IRS Data Retrieval Tool (IRS DRT) using your personal information.

Additional information

- Visit irs.gov/cp302 for more information about this notice.
- You may receive more than one notice. As part of our efforts to protect your tax return information, we'll send you a notice each time you access your tax return information through fafsa.gov or the online Income-Driven Repayment Plan request on studentaid.gov.

Notice 1155-G

Disaster Relief from the IRS

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) recently issued a disaster declaration. The IRS announced that taxpayers in your area may qualify for administrative disaster tax relief. Administrative disaster tax relief generally includes postponement of most filing and payment deadlines. If your IRS address of record is in the covered disaster area listed in the news release, you will automatically receive IRS administrative disaster tax relief. Visit www.irs.gov and search "IRS News From Around the Nation" to view the news release.

Also, taxpayers in a federally declared disaster area have the option of claiming disaster-related casualty losses on their federal income tax return for either the year in which the event occurred, or the prior year. See Publication 547 Casualties, Disasters and Thefts for claiming disaster-related casualty and theft losses. Disaster questions, please call the IRS Disaster Hotline at 866-562-5227.

Aviso 1155-G

Alivio de Desastre por parte del IRS

La Agencia Federal para el Manejo de Emergencias (Federal Emergency Management Agency o FEMA, por sus siglas en inglés) emitió recientemente una declaración de desastre. El IRS anunció que los contribuyentes en su área pueden calificar para el alivio tributario administrativo por desastre. Por lo general, el alivio tributario administrativo por desastre incluye el aplazamiento de la mayoría de los plazos de presentación y pago. Si su dirección registrada ante el IRS se encuentra en la zona de desastre cubierta que se indica en el comunicado de prensa, usted recibirá automáticamente del IRS el alivio tributario administrativo por desastre. Visite www.irs.gov/espanol y busque "Alrededor de la Nación" para ver el comunicado de prensa.

Además, los contribuyentes en una zona declarada de desastre por el gobierno federal, tienen la opción de reclamar las pérdidas por hechos fortuitos relacionadas con el desastre en su declaración de impuestos federales sobre los ingresos ya sea para el año en que ocurrió el evento o bien para el año anterior. Consulte la Publicación 547 (sp), Hechos Fortuitos, Desastres y Robos, para reclamar las pérdidas por hechos fortuitos y robos relacionadas con desastres. Para las preguntas sobre desastres, por favor, llame a la línea directa del IRS para desastres al 866-562-5227.
